B. F. DIXON IS LAID TO REST

Funeral Held Yesterday Afternoon.

Remains of Late State Auditor Lay In State During Morning and Were Viewed by Hundreds—Casket Draped With Flags—The Obsequies Most Touching—State Council Resolutes—The Successor.

Raleigh, Sept. 28.—Great throngs of people today viewed the remains of Hon. B. F. Dixon, late State auditor as they lay in state in the rotunda of the State House prior to the funeral procession which moved at 3:30 o'clock. On duty all day were squads of Confederate veterans from the Soldier's Home that relieved each other as guards of honor. Then there were special guards on duty from among the men of the Raleigh company of the North Carolina national guard. The catafalque with its beloved burden occupied a position directly under the dome of the state house and the people passed through the corridor east to west, the north and south entrances being closed. The setting for the catafalque was especially striking and beautiful. There were stately palms and luxuriant ferns tastefully placed about the rotunda, the black and white mourning draperies added to the striking effect. The casket was draped in national and state flags along with the old flag of his confederate regiment—the Fourteenth North Carolina. There was also surmounting these his trusty sword that he carried in the Civil War and tendered so gallantly later in his distinguished career to wield in the Spanish-American war for which he was commissioned a major.

The funeral ceremonies began at 3:30 this afternoon with the removal of the body from the rotunda to the Edenton Street Methodist church where the services were conducted by Dr. H. M. North, the pastor, and Dr. J. E. Cole. There were touching tributes by these ministers in connection with the prescribed funeral ritual and also high tributes to the deceased by Governor Kitchin and ex-Governor Aycock, Major Dixon having served as auditor during the administrations of both these gentlemen. From the church the remains were conveyed to Oakwood cemetery for commitment to their last resting place. The cortege was one of great length. The acting pall bearers were Masons from William G. Hill lodge. There was a long procession of Masons representing all three of the Raleigh lodges. Also Knights of Pythias and Junior Order American Mechanics. The honorary pall bearers were the state officers, headed by Governor Kitchin and including the judges of the Supreme court and also quite a number of the most prominent citizens in private life. In the cortege were a long line of Confederate veterans and Spanish-American war veterans and conveyances without number. The procession extended for many squares.

At a special session of the Council of State held in the office of Governor Kitchin resolutions relative to the death of Major B. D. Dixon, state auditor, were adopted as follows:

"In the death of Benjamin Franklin Dixon, state auditor, on Monday night, September 26, 1910, the State of North Carolina lost one of her ablest and most loyal sons, a gallant soldier and patriotic statesman.

"He was a man of varied talents and rendered eminent service to his people as a soldier, minister, physician, teacher, and statesman.

"We his associates in the executive department, who knew his worth, feel most keenly his taking away. We realize the state's inestimable loss, and experience a deep personal bereavement in the department of one whos genial natur, lovable disposition, and true friendship endeared him to all who came in contact with him, and marked him the highest type of North Carolina manhood.

"To his family in their affliction we tender our heartfelt sympathy, and request them to permit his remains to lie in state in the rotunda of the Capitol that those who knew and loved him may pay a last tribute to his memory.

"It is ordered, as a mark of respect, that the state flag be halfmasted until after the interment, and that the capitol be draped in mourning for thirty days.

"A copy of these resolutions will be sent to Major Dixon's fa[illegible]

While no official announcement has been made yet to that effect it is understood that tomorrow evening following the funeral of Major Dixon a call will be issued by Democratic State Chairman A. H. Eller for the State Democratic Executive Committee to meet on Friday night, September 30 to decide upon a candidate for state auditor to be voted for in the November elections and that Governor Kitchin intends to commission whoever the committee may name as the candidate, to serve as auditor until January when the choice of the November elections will be inducted into office.

There are no avowed candidates being mentioned here yet. It is understood that Frank D. Hackett, North Wilkesboro, who contested for the nomination two years ago will be a candidate. Capt. S. A. Ashe is also being mentioned and there are others.

LOCKE CRAIG FOR GOVERNOR

Will Seek Nomination Two Years Hence.

So States Western Carolina Man—Says Mr. Craig Has So Informed His Friends Because of Great Pressure That Has Been Brought to Bear Upon Him—Auto Causes Mules to Run—Farmer Killed.

Raleigh, Sept. 28.—"Hon Locke Craig, of Asheville, will certainly be a candidate before the next Democratic state convention for the nomination for governor," declared a Western North Carolina man here today—a close personal friend of the distinguished "mountaineer." "I am fully authorized to make this statement," said this friend of Mr. Craig who went on to say that Mr. Craig is reluctant to make a formal announcement at such an early date, but that in view of the letters and requests received by him from every section insisting that he be a candidate, and that he should let his intentions be known he feels that it is his duty to his friends to say that his name will certainly be before the convention for the nomination. This friend also said that it seems to be the general impression that Mr. Craig will be nominated without serious opposition two years hence. "There will be no question raised at that time, either," declared this western friend of Mr. Craig, "as to the right of the west to name the governor and Mr. Craig's party services have been so conspicuous and his merit is so pronounced that there appears to be an almost unanimous sentiment in his favor."

From the public librarian of New South Wales, Australia, there has just come to Commissioner of Agriculture W. A. Graham a special card of thanks for the Bulletins of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture which, he writes are very much in demand and greatly appreciated in New South Wales.

The August Bulletin of the Department of Agriculture is just out, being devoted to "Fertilizer Experiments with cotton on Piedmont red clay loam soil" and to a presentation of "The Varieties, Culture and Fertilizeration of Cotton on Piedmont red clay loam soils."

At Garner early this morning an unidentified automobile running at high speed toward Raleigh frightened a pair of mules hitched to a wagon. They ran and Alfred Stevens, well known farmer of Shiloh church, near Clayton, who was driving them was caught under the wagon so that he was dragged two miles. He was dead and his body terribly mangled when extricated from the smashed wagon.

Special Agent Doyle of the civil service commission arrived here today to look into complaints of pernicious activity in politics that are understood to have been filed in Washington against a number of postoffice and other government employes in connection with the recent political contests that have been on in this county. No details are available.

Judge Connor of the United States court, has ordered that no grand jury need attend the Washington court to convene October 18 although the court will sit and cases be tried as usual. The cases that would be up for grand jury investigation at Washington will be disposed of by the Elizabeth City court grand jury that convenes October 11 and in the cases where true bills are found the trials will be held at Washington as usual. This course is taken to save the expense of a grand jury at the Washington court.

Dr. Thames a Visitor.

Dr. John Thames, of Wilmington, was in the city yesterday on his way to Thomasville to see a patient. Dr. Thames states that the report that he was to be associated with other physicians in Wilmington was erroneous as he has opened offices for himself and is specializing in the diseases of women and children. Mrs. Thames and children will go to Wilmington next week.

Mr. Elias Pegram and Miss Mary Carter, both of Belew's Creek, Forsyth county, who have been visiting Mr. C. W. Holden, were married Tuesday night at the Holiness church, Rev. W. R. Cox officiating. They returned to their home yesterday.

SUDDEN DEATH OF AGED WOMAN

Mrs. Eunice Hodgin Passes Away.

Was Found Dead In her Home Yesterday Morning by Passerby—Supposed To Have Died Tuesday Night—Lived Alone—Sheriff Jones Notified and With Dr. Fortune Went Out—No Inqust Necessary—Funeral Today.

Mrs. Eunice Hodgin, an aged lady who has lived alone at her home about eight miles south of the city for some years, was found dead yesterday morning in her home. She had at times suffered with dizziness and it is supposed that heart trouble caused her death. She was 76 years of age and is survived by a brother, Mr. Dan Osborne, of the southern part of the county, and two sons living in the west. She was the widow of the late Pleasant Hodgin.

A neighbor who was doing some work nearby went to the house yesterday morning to see how Mrs. Hodgin was getting along and was surprised to find the doors locked. He peeped in at a window and saw the lady lying on the floor. He at once notified a magistrate and together they made an investigation, which showed that Mrs. Hodgin had been dead several hours. Sheriff Jones was notified and accompanied by County Physician A. F. Fortune went out to the scene. An investigation showed there were no marks of violence and from all appearances the deceased had died of heart trouble. Her clothes were lying on a chair and it appeared that Mrs. Hodgin had retired for the night and afterwards had gotten up and started upstairs when she fell suddenly. It was decided that an inquest was unnecessary and permission was given to prepare the body for burial. The Wilson Undertaking Company was given charge of the body.

The funeral will be held this morning at 10 o'clock from Concord church, near the city, following which the interment will take place in the family burying ground.

MISS ANNIE COFFIN WEDDED TO MR. ROBERT E. CREWS.

Quiet But Very Pretty Marriage Solemnized At St. Barnabas..

At 8 o'clock last night St. Barnabas' Episcopal church was the scene of a quiet but very pretty marriage when Miss Annie Coffin became the bride of Mr. Robert E. Crews, Rev. Thomas G. Faulkner, the rector of the church, officiating. Only the members of the immediate families of the bride and groom were present. The bride wore a very becoming navy blue tailored suit with hat and gloves to match. Mr. and Mrs. Crews left on No. 29 to spend their honeymoon in attendance upon the Appalachian Exposition at Knoxville. The bride is a young woman of most attractive appearance and splendid personal traits. The groom is an energetic and well liked young business man. Many good wishes will follow this young couple in their married life.

The West Market Revival.

Large congregations are attending the revival meetings in progress at West Market Street Methodist church and the interest is quite pronounced. The pastor, Rev. E. K. The laymen meet each day at noon in the Ireland Bible class room and at the same hour the Baraca class meets. The women's meetings are held at 4 p. m. and the Philathea meeting at 7:30 p. m. MAY PURCHASE THE BLEWETT'S FALLS PROPERTY

Reported That Southern Power Company Will Likely Make Another Big Deal.

The following from yesterday's Charlotte Chronicle will be of interest to users of current made by the Southern Power Company in this city:

It is probable that the Southern Power Company, whose electric transmission lines already extend over a large section of North and South Carolina with Charlotte as a center and with power lines into all the manufacturing cities and towns of the piedmont section especially, will bid in the Blewett's Falls property near Rockingham, when it is offered for sale in New York next Wednesday. Dr. W. Gil Wylie, of New York, president of the Southern Power Company, inspected the property last week and it is reported was immensely pleased with it. It is said by engineers that $1,500,000 will be required to complete the hydro-electric plant and put it in operation. When completed it will have a capacity of 32,000 horse-power of electricity and transmission lines will no doubt extend over a large section of Richmond, Anson and Scotland counties in North Carolina and Marlboro and Chesterfield counties in South Carolina. If it is purchased by the Southern Power Company the transmission system will be connected with the present transmission system of that company, the Monroe line being extended eastward.

The completion of the plant will mark a new epoch for a large section, no matter by whom completed. It will afford a plentiful supply of electricity for the operation of scores of cotton mills and other manufacturing plants, the convenience and cheapness of this form of power as well as its quantity, forming an invaluable asset to the section.

Speaking of the immediate future of the property and the visit of Dr. Wylie, The Rockingham Post has the following:

"The sale is set for October 5 in New York, with an up-set price of $1,000,000, and Dr. Wylie was so favorably impressed with the work and the prospect for the falls that were it left with him entirely he would unhesitating bid in the property. Dr. Wylie is an old South Carolinian. For several years he has been president of the Southern Power Company and is actively interested in some of their recent undertakings."

ENROLLMENT DAY AT FIRST BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL

Exercises Sunday Looking To Large Membership Increase.

Superintendent Spencer of the First Baptist Sunday school and his assistants are planning for a great rally Sunday when "Enrollment Day" will be observed. The exercises will begin a little earlier than usual—9:15 a. m.

The membership of the school is now over three hundred and the object of "Enrollment Day" is to run the membership to five hundred.

Very neat, catchy and original invitations have been sent out in an effort to get a large attendance Sunday. These invitations give the information that Dr. Mann, superintendent of the city schools, will make an address and that the music will vary from the wholesome chimes of the primary tots to special selections by Mrs. Janie Foushee with violin obligato by Miss Phyllis Woodall. The Wheeler Quartet will sing and there will be a violin duet by Miss Woodall and Mr. Cook.

THE THREE-FOLD PARABLE

Rev. D. M. Litaker Preached on This Subject At Centenary Last Night.

At Centenary Methodist church last night Rev. D. M. Litaker preached on the three-fold parable of the Lost Sheep, The Lost Coin and the Prodigal Son. The speaker showed very clearly and in a beautiful and convincing manner how this three-fold parable represents the relation of humanity to the three persons of the Trinity. The sermon made a deep impression on those who heard it and was a lesson in Bible study which will not soon be forgotten. The regular services will be held today. At the noon hour for men, at four o'clock for women and children, at 7:30 for the Philathea class and at 8 o'clock for the public in general.

Mr. Albright Out.

Mr. Mack Albright, who was severely hurt in a runaway some weeks ago, is able to be out again. He has not fully recovered from his injruies, however. It will be remembered that a runaway team ran into Mr. Albright's buggy, throwing him out and rendering him unconscious. He was removed to his home on Battle Ground avenue where he has been confined ever since.

THE COSTS IN BUTLER CASES

Judge Robinson Assumes Responsibility.

In Compromise Witn judge Adams' Attorney He Agreed To See That All Costs in the Civil and Criminal Cases Were Paid—Writes Clerk of Court to This Effect and Asks That Bill of Costs Be Furnished Him.

The terms in the noted compromise of the civil and criminal cases instituted by Judge S. B. Adams against Marion and Lester Butler have at last leaked out and it develops that Butler is to pay all costs in both civil and criminal actions. Or at least Judge W. S. O'B. Robinson, of counsel for the Butlers, assumes this responsibility. So the cases will doubtless be stricken off the docket at the next term of court and the civil cases non-suited.

The compromise was effected by Judge Robinson, representing the Butlers, and Mr. G .S. Bradshaw, representing Judge Adams. The intention had been to keep the terms a secret as nearly as possible, but the fact that local counsel for the Butlers were not fully informed as to the terms of the compromise caused them to object to their client's being taxed with the costs and this, in connection with the refusal of the solicitor to nolle pros unless the costs were paid, gave the cases wide publicity and compelled the true facts to be brought out.

When the cases were called in court Mr. Bradshaw insisted that the defendants in the cases were to assume all costs, both criminal and civil, but he was not at liberty to reveal the signed agreement made by Judge Robinson and himself. So he immediately wrote Judge Robinson, acquainting him with the facts, and received a reply informing him that his position was correct and stating that a letter would be sent the clerk of the court giving the facts in detail.

Yesterday Clerk Clapp received the above mentioned letter in which Judge Robinson stated that in the agreement to compromise the cases he, as counsel for the defendants, agreed to assume all costs in the cases and he stood ready to live up to that agreement. He had no fear, he stated, but that Messrs. Butler would repay him the amount of the costs. He asked that a bill of the costs be made out and sent him. The costs in the criminal cases will be in the neighborhood of $300. The costs in the civil cases have been paid.

So it seems that the cases will be settled at the next term of criminal court as the only impediment so far noted has been removed, or will be by the next court. The civil cases will be nonsuited and the criminal cases nolle prossed. At the past term notice was ordered to issue to Judge Adams to show cause why he should not be marked as prosecutor and he will likely bring to the front the signed agreement that the cases were to be nolle prossed on condition that all costs involved were to be paid by the defendants.

The public is familiar with the above cases, the civil suits being instituted for recovery of alleged damages because of the publication of certain articles by the Butlers in their paper, attacking Judge Adams' character. The criminal actions were instituted because of the publication of the same articles, the plaintiff contending that he had been criminally libeled. One criminal case has been tried, consuming a whole week, and the Butlers were found guilty. A fine of $500 was imposed on Marion Butler and a fine of $250 on Lester Butler. An appeal was taken and the case came back for a new trial on some technical grounds.

Another Charge Against Spivey.

The police yesterday afternoon arrested Jake Spivey on the charge of uttering a forged check. The check was for $3 and was cashed by Mr. C. C. Fordham. It will be remembered that there were six cases against Spivey at the last term of court, the charge being forgery, but judgment was suspended on payment of costs and the amount of the bogus checks. A farmer living near the city paid over the necessary cash with the understanding that Spivey was to work for him for four years. The next day the boy ran away and left the farmer helpless. The last crime was committed some time ago, but it was not known until yesterday.

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN.

Is Rivaled by Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Scouring the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. WOUNDED CHORUS GIRL ONCE SOUTHERN BELLE.

Woman Mysteriously Shot is Daughter of New Orleans Manager of R. G. Dun Company.

New York World.

Mrs. Phyllis Phillips, formerly a member of Henry W. Savage's "Love Cure" chorus, who is in Flower Hospital with a bullet wound in her hip, has been identified as the daughter of William Curtin, New Orleans manager for the R. G. Dun commercial agency. She was married in August, 1909, to Carroll Prochaska, a son of one of the most prominent families in New Orleans, but they parted soon after the wedding. She came north a short time afterward and joined the Savage company.

Miss Phillips, who was once very popular in the younger set of New Orleans, positively refuses to give any information as to the manner in which she was shot early Sunday morning. It is quite well established that, so far, as she is concerned, it was an accident. She was with two men who quarreled about her. One of them drew a revolver, which was discharged and Miss Phillips was shot in the hip.

It is denied at Masterdon's cafe, corner of Seventh avenue and West Forty-eigth street, that the shooting took place there or that the parties had been there. Masterdon said yesterday that the trouble occurred on the sidewalk in front of his place.

Alfred Henshaw, a waiter ,who says he is employed at the West End Cafe, No. 361 West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, was held in $5,000 bail by Magistrate Murphy in the West Side Police Court yesterday for further examination today. Henshaw when arraigned yesterday morning said he was in a nearby restaurant and heard the shot. He ran out and found the girl staggering on the sidewalk. He helped her into a cab and at her request took her to the office of Dr. Cornelius Orben, No. 427 West Fifty-first street, he said. After the wound was treated he took her to her rooms in the Hotel Lincoln, Broadway and West Fifty-second street.

Magistrate Murphy informed Henshaw he did not believe his story and thought he could tell more of the affair. Miss Evelyn Leslie, who was taken in the girl's room in the Hotel Lincoln, was released by Magistrate Murphy when she convinced him she knew nothing of the shooting. The police think the young actor was mixed in the affair, but all concerned maintain absolute secrecy regarding it.

THE OPIUM HABIT.

Its Effects as Described by Bill Nye In His Memoirs.

I have always had a horror of opiates of all kinds. They are so seductive and so still in their operations. They steal through the blood like a wolf on the trail and they seize on the heart with their white fangs till it is still forever.

Up the Laramie there is a cluster of ranches at the base of the Medicine Bow, near the north end of Sheep mountain. Well, a young man whom we will call Curtis lived at one of these ranches years ago, and, though a quiet, mind-your-own-business fellow who had absolutely no enemies among his companions, he had the misfortune to incur the wrath of a tramp sheepherder, who waylaid Curtis one afternoon and shot him dead as he sat in his buggy. Curtis wasn't armed.

A rancher came into town and telegraphed to Curtis' father, and then half a dozen citizens went out to help capture the herder, who had fled to the foothills.

They didn't get back till toward daybreak, but they brought the herder with them. I saw him in the gray of the morning, lying in a coarse gray blanket on the floor of the engine house. He was dead.

I asked, as a reporter, how he came to his death and they told me, "opium." The murderer had taken poison when he found that escape was impossible.

I was present at the inquest so that I could report the case. There was very little testimony, but all the evidence seemed to point to the fact that life was extinct, and a verdict of death by his own hand was rendered.

It was the first opium work I had ever seen, and it aroused my curiosity. Death by opium, it seems, leaves a dark ring around the neck. I did not know this before. People who die by opium also tie their hands together before they die. This is one of the eccentricities of opium poisoning that I have never seen laid down in the books. I bequeath it to medical science. Whenever I run up against a new scientific discovery I just hand it right over to the public without cost.

Ever since the above incident I have been very apprehensive about people who seem to be likely to form the opium habit. It is one of the most deadly narcotics, especially in a new country.

Caught a Tartar.

Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, who is a bachelor and has never been ensnared by the wiles of women, tells a story of a young lady and a judge of his acquaintance. The former was a witness in the latter's court. The prosecuting attorney had repeatedly put to her questions which she persistently evaded under the plea that she did not comprehend his meaning, whereupon his honor undertook to bring out the proper responses. Leaning over, he said in a kindly and fatherly manner:

"Young woman, why is it that you insist in refusing to understand the questions of counsel? You are a person of charm, grace, beauty and more than average intelligence and"—

"Thank you, your honor," interrupted the young woman, "if it were not for the fact, judge, that I am under oath I would return the compliment."—National Monthly.

The "Sting" of Death.

The sting of death physically is nothing; a man who has lost consciousness in the water, a man who has been under an anaesthetic, a man stunned in an accident—these have been in effect dead, and yet they know nothing of death. In speaking of it the most glaring contradictions pass quite naturally for axioms. It is the "gentle hand," but it is also the "grisly terror." It is "beautiful" and "wonderful," but it is also "terrible."—London Spectator.

A Cargo Hard to Handle.

Asphalt is said to be the most difficult cargo for a vessel to unload. The asphalt is taken out of the asphalt lakes in Trinidad in a semifluid state and by the time the vessel reaches a northern port has hardened, so that to unload it it is necessary for the men to go into the hold and dig it out with pick and shovel. This takes time, and a vessel carrying such cargo always has to arrange for a considerable stay in port.

Hippocratic Face.

The hippocratic face is a condition of the human face produced by death, long illness, excessive hunger and the like. The nose is pinched, the temples hollow, the eyes sunken, the ears cold and retracted, the skin of the forehead dry, the complexion livid and the lips relaxed with cold. This appearance is so named from having been accurately described by Hippocrates, the father of medicine.—New York American.

One Thing Unbroken.

Standing over the shattered remains of their last Dresden china statuette, the exasperated mistress said to the awkward servant:

"Is there anything you haven't broken since you have been with me?"

"Yes, mum," replied the servant. "I have yet to break me record for destructiveness."—Baltimore American.

A Gattish Suggestion.

Ethel—My poor head aches frightfully. Claire—Why don't you take your hair off and rest it my dear?—Lippincott's.

"The poorest way to face life is to face it with a sneer."—Theodore Roosevelt.

Those New York Republicans simply decided that they preferred Teddy Roosevelt as boss to Billy Barnes as boss.

We were thinking the town had about got past the campaign for a commission form of government, but Tuesday night's developments deferred the end of the campaign for some months yet.

Roosevelt will be more smitten with himself than ever now that he has routed the "old guard." But it was no great achievement—the whole outfit was thoroughly discredited to start with.

One must admit that the President is keeping his temper remarkably well, considering the confusion the ex-President is creating round the country.—Atlanta Journal.

It must be admitted that the President is standing his eclipse with remarkable equanimity.

William Barnes, Jr., of the "Albany gang" and the leader of the Republican old guard in New York State, was beaten out of his boots Tuesday by Col. Roosevelt, but kept right on issuing statements. The Colonel may be more gifted in political chicanery than Barnes, but he can't beat him in verbosity.

While Mayor Gaynor, of New York, was unselfishly putting aside a splendid opportunity to be governor of New York, William Randolph Hearst was saying in Paris, "Gaynor will run for Governor; he has been fighting for the nomination for months." Hearst judges other people by his own standards.

O. L. Clark, of Bladen, is a Democrat of the true-blue variety. He was not soured one little bit because a nomination for Congress which was in his grasp was snatched away from him by the primary called to settle the unfortunate dispute which arose in the Sixth district. On the contrary he says:

Throughout the entire campaign it has been my endeavor to make a clean gentlemanly fight and to do no act that could ever cause one of my friends and supporters to be ashamed of having supported me and believing that every man has an absolute right to think and act for himself. I have no word of criticism for those who opposed me.

I feel that it is proper for me to state that I have never scratched a Democratic ticket and that the November election will be no exception to the rule. I stand upon the rock and will fight for Democratic success, from magistrate to President.

Every party makes mistakes at times and it often happens that these mistakes bear heavily on men least deserving of ill usage, but men of breadth will not be soured or disgruntled, but will go on supporting the party as if nothing had happened to chill their enthusiasm.

Mayor Gaynor, of New York City, declined to become a candidate for the Democratic nomnination for Governor of New York. The following letter to James Creelman explained his position:

I am this day writing a letter to Chairman Dix stating that I am not a candidate for nomination for Governor, and refuse to become such. I do this to remove all doubt on the subject which may arise by reason of irresponsible statements which I am informed are being circulated. No utterance of mine has put the matter in doubt. Some have said to me that the convention may nominate me although I am not a candidate. It seems to me that it might appear vain or egotistical for me to assume in my letter to Mr. Dix that the extraordinary thing might happen. I therefore write this supplemental letter to you to take to Rochester and show to prevent my nomination if it should appear to be imminent. Make it plain if nominated I would decline to accept. I could not abandon to their fate the splendid men whom I have appointed to office, and who are working so hard for good government, nor could I abandon the people of New York after so short service. You may make this letter public on the advance of going to Rochester if, in your judgment, you think the situation calls for it. But do not do so unless it is plainly necessary. Every honest man will understand me.

It was a nobly unselfish thing in Mayor Gaynor to abandon his prospects for being made Governor of New York. the Governorship of the Empire State usually being regarded as a stepping stone to the Presidency. He was elected for a four years' term as Mayor of Greater New York and in deciding to devote himself to his work in the metropolis he has done the right and proper thing and the thing which will entitle him to a still greater degree of respect and confidence than even that which he already enjoys. Having put his hands to the plow, New York's great Mayor, the executive head of an imperial city of five million souls, will not turn back.

HIS BLACK EYE.

How He Got It and the Worst That Was Yet to Come.

"Gracious! That's a peach of a black eye. Where did you get it?"

"Got it on the left side of my nose. Where did you think I got it—over the ankle bone?"

"Don't get heated. How did it all happen?"

"That's different. It was all a piece of my confounded luck. I was up on the Blue Cliff road looking at a piece of real estate when along came a coatless and bareheaded fellow running for dear life with a lot of panting pursuers stretching in a long line behind him. I joined in the chase. Being fresh, I rapidly overhauled the fugitive. I had nearly collared him when a big ruffian grabbed me and profanely told me to clear out. I spoke rudely to him and kept on running, and he suddenly reached out a fist like a ham and knocked me into a ditch. And what do you suppose it all was?"

"Give it up."

"It was a rehearsal for a moving picture film, and now my portrait will go all over the country and be seen in thousands of theaters as a bruised and battered butter-in who got just what was coming to him!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THOMAS DIXON TO ANSWER CRITICS

North Carolinian Is Coming South To Refute Charges Against His New Play, "The Sins of the Father"—Will Stop Over and Speak in Greensboro.

A hot reply to his critics will be issued by Thomas Dixon tomorrow from Lynchburg, Va. The playwright is incensed over a scurilous attack made on "The Sins of the Father" in a Richmond newspaper, and he intends to expose what he conceives to be the true inwardness of his enemies' motives in characterizing the play as "offensive" and "indecent."

After the Lynchburg pronouncement Mr. Dixon will continue South and on his way to his boyhood home in the western part of this State he will stop over in Greensboro. The date of "The Sins of the Father" at the Grand is Thursday, October 6, matinee and night.

Mr. Dixon is expected to be present and interpret to the audiences the message conveyed by his newest drama, which in many ways, he thinks, excels "The Clansman."

"Ma'am, here's a man at the door with a parcel for you." "What is it, Bridget?" "It's a fish, ma'am, and it's marked C. O. D." "Then make the man take it straight back to the dealer. I ordered trout."—Washington Star.

Nothing is more disgraceful than insincerity.—Cicero.

FINDS A NEW DISEASE

Dr. Hirshberg, of Hopkins, on the Susceptibility to Illnesses.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 28.—The American Association of Clinical Research opened its second annual session here yesterday at Harvard University medical buildings. There was a large attendance of noted scientists and physicians from all parts of the United States. The principal paper was presented by Dr. Leonard K. Hirshberg, of Baltimore. It was not only an elaborate paper, but a most startling one discussed and unanimously concurred in by the assembled doctors.

Dr. Hirshberg made the first public announcement of a new disease and condition with the name of anaphylactia. Anaphylactia or anaphylaxis, according to the doctor, is just the reverse of immunity or resistance to diseases. If you are vaccinated or recover from a fever and never get it again, you are an immune. Yellow fever, typhoid and scarlet fevers are immunizing maladies.

If you are laid low by pneumonia, malaria and tuberculosis you are more susceptible than you were before to those same pathological catchpoles. These, as Dr. Hirshberg proves, instead of being immunizing parasites are anaphylactogenic diseases. Once a man recovers from pneumonia he is apt to have it two, three, four or more times.

Anaphylaxis is a condition of the blood and tissue juices of our bodies, due to a weakening of one of its chemical constituents, which he has named anaphylactine. There is also, he stated, a phenomenon of antianaphylaxis, which is one of the stages of immunity. Dr. Hirshberg points out that cancers and tumors may be cured when this principle is understood.

FIRE DESTROYS HEBREW TEMPLE

Synagogue on East Lee Street Gutted by Flames Yesterday Morning—Caught by Spark from Earlier Fire Which Burned Barn of Mr. C. C. Townsend—The Losses Something Over a Thousand Dollars.

An alarm of fire at 11 o'clock yesterday morning called the firemen to the Hebrew Synagogue on East Lee street, the roof of which was in flames. The fire was located between the ceiling and the roof and was hard to get at until the roof fell in, when the flames were soon extinguished. Nearly all the furniture was saved, but some of it was damaged. The Torah, or the scroll containing the ten commandments, was taken from the building before it was damaged.

The loss is estimated at about $1,000, this being practically covered by insurance. The fire is supposed to have originated in the gable from a spark that had been blown from a previous fire in the vicinity.

Just an hour earlier an alarm had called the firemen to the barn of Mr. C. C. Townsend, a short distance from the church, which was on fire. The barn was almost destroyed, but by prompt work the firemen prevented the fire from spreading to Mr. Townsend's residence and the residence of Mr. Eugene Robeson. When the firemen left they could see no signs of any fire, but it is thought that a spark had lodged in the church gable, as above stated. The fire in the barn originated from a trash pile being burned nearby.

DR. PARKHURST A DEMOCRAT

Life-Long Republican Says Times Are Ripe For a Change.

New York, Sept. 28.—Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst, who led the movement 15 years ago which led to Tammany's overthrow and Mayor Strong's election, has registered his determination, though a Republican by heredity and the practice of a lifetime, to vote the Democratic ticket at the next national election.

"I was born and brought up to be a Republican," said Dr. Parkhurst, "but I hope that I am a patriot more than a partisan. The times are ripe for a change.

"I want to see the Democrats win in 1912 that the two great political parties may be more evenly matched in strength. There has been no practicable check by one party upon the other in recent years because the Democratic party has lacked the necessary strength. We must have two parties. We must always have. They should always be closely matched in strength."

WHAT CURES ECZEMA?

We have had so many inquiries lately regarding Eczema and other skin diseases, that we are glad to make our answer public. After careful investigation we have found that a simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, as compounded in D. D. D., can be relied upon. We would not make this statement to our patrons, friends and neighbors unless we were sure of it—and although there are many so-called Eczema remedies sold, we ourselves unhesitatingly recommend D. D. D. Prescription.

Because—We know that it gives instant relief to that torturing itch.

Because—It cleanses, soothes and heals the skin.

Because—It enables Nature to repair the ravages of the disease.

Because—The records of ten years of complete cures of thousands of the most serious cases show that D. D. D. is today recognized as the absolutely reliable Eczema cure.

BURN PALE FACE AT STAKE

Thrilling Exhibition To Be Given by Red Men Friday Night In Auditorium.

The Red Men of Greensboro have succeeded in securing Greensboro's big auditorium in which to give a grand exhibition on Friday night, September 30, at 8 o'clock. The admission fee will be only 25 cents. This is for all over the house with the exception of 10 cents extra for chairs in the boxes.

The show will begin at 8 o'clock and will last about an hour and a half. This is something new, and something the people of Greensboro have never had the pleasure of seeing before. The Red Men will have their Indian tents located in different parts of the arena. The performance will commence first by having a grand parade of some 200 Indians in full costume, followed by the capture of the enemy of some 100 whites. This, of course, is put up in the form of a sham battle which is very thrilling and exciting. After capturing the white man, or what is known as the pale face, they will then proceed to burn him at the stake. This alone is well worth the price of admission. Finally they will reproduce Mineota, Eno and Chickasaw in a big Indian war dance, each tribe reproducing their own individual dance, and then they will all join together in one universal war dance.

Tickets will be on sale at Wade's Cigar Place and at Fariss-Klutz's. Remember the general admission is 25 cents, reserved chairs in boxes 10 cents extra. It should be stated in this connection that the charge is to cover the cost of lighting the building and the rental charged by the Auditorium Company. Had the building been secured free of charge the Red Men would not have charged an admission as they are not allowed to use the funds for any other purpose than above described.

Are You Sure Your Kidneys Are Well?

Many rheumatic attacks are due to uric acid in the blood. But the duty of the kidneys is to remove all uric acid from the blood. Its presence there shows the kidneys are inactive.

Don't dally with "uric acid solvents." You might go on till doomsday with them, but until you cure the kidneys you will never get well. Doan's Kidney Pills not only remove uric acid, but cure the kidneys and then all danger from uric acid is ended. The following testimony will convince the most skeptical Greensboro citizen:

Mrs. W. C. Moon, Graham, N. C., says: "I suffered from rheumatism for nearly a year and when I stooped the pains were so severe as to cause me the greatest misery. I tried a number of remedies but I did not succeed in finding relief until Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention. I began their use and they helped me in every way. Doan's Kidney Pills proved so satisfactory in my case that I cannot hesitate to recommend them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

MORGAN'S HUMAN SIDE.

Plays on Pier With Grandchildren and Indulges Little Ones in Good-Humored Way.

New York Press.

A thousand relatives and friends of the passengers aboard the Baltic which docked yesterday, saw J. Pierpont Morgan, the financier, off duty. They found that the giant of Wall Street is the idol of his grandchildren. The youngsters unconsciously showed how they have enslaved the man at whose word all Wall Street stands attention.

The huge yacht Corsair had met the Baltic out at Quarantine. Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan and her grandchild, J. S. Morgan, the eldest son of J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., were aboard the liner. On the deck of the Corsair Morgan was surrounded by his two daughters, Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee and Mrs. William Pierson Hambleton, and their children. The black bull circled about the Baltic as it came up the bay and shot into the other side of the White Star pier as the ropes were flung ashore from the ocean greyhound.

On the pier the position of the banker was recognized in his admission within the guard lines. The crowd watched him closely, but he gave no attention to their gaze. As the vessel was about to lower its gangplank he brought his daughters and grandchildren within the lines. Every one of the men of the Whoite Star pier exerted himself to be of service to the Morgan party, but the financier took all this as a matter of course.

As the sailors lashed the gangplank into place he held two of his five grandchildren by the hand. One of the steamship officers engaged in conversation with Mr. Morgan and he broke off in his talk to playfully pinch the cheek of one little girl who kept tugging at his coat. Every one of the youngsters claimed his time in turn and he was never too busy to give heed to what each had to say. H elaughed and joked with the little ones all the time that the dock men continued their work.

Everything that went on gave his grandchildren material for a dozen questions and all received replies that made them happier. He was the indulgent grandfather and the chum of the youngsters.

As the passengers began to push down the gangplank Mr. Morgan gathered the children about him and edged closer to the liner. He saw his grandson among the first to disembark. He ran forward as the boy descended the plank and took him up in his arms that he might kiss him. The lad seemed overjoyed to meet his grandad again, and with reluctance quit him to greet his cousins and aunts.

Mrs. Morgan, as she reached the dock, was swallowed up in the family group, and her grandchildren overwhelmed her with their affectionate greetings. Taking one of the little girls in his arms, and, with the others hanging to his coat, the financier led them back to the Corsair, and he remained with them on the upper deck of his yacht while the customs inspection went on.

Don't Break Down.

If you are weak or run-down, or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters the matchless, tonic medicine. Mrs. J. E. Van de Sande, of Kirkland, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down, while enduring a most severe strain, for three months, is due wholly to Electric Bitters." Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction positively guaranteed. 50c at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

WHY ISN'T A HEN A BIRD?
IT'S UP TO NEW COURT.

Customs Appeals Tribunal Must Take Up Question That Floored the Treasury Department.

Washington, Sept. 26.—The new United States Court of Customs Appeals is in the full swing of its first session. The much-disputed question: "Is a hen a bird?" which the Treasury officials passed up as hopeless will probably come before the court at this term. The question is: if bird's eggs are free under the tariff, and hen's eggs are taxed five cents a dozen, why isn't a hen a bird?

An importer who paid the higher rate of duty wants to know. Another importer has canned eggs which he wants assessed as canned albumen, on which the duty is lower.

There are Chinese merchants with poultry meats packed in oils which they want the court to pronounce fresh poultry, and many other customs cases which have baffled the Board of General Appraisers at New York.

Reliable Medicine—NOT A NARCOTIC

F. Marti, St. Joe, Mich., says Foley's Honey and Tar saved her little girl's life. She writes: "Our little boy contracted a severe bronchial trouble and as the doctor's medicine did not cure him, I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar in which I have great faith. It cured the cough as well as the choking and gagging spells, and he got well in short time. Foley's Honey and Tar has many times saved us much trouble and we are never without it in the house." Sold by all Druggists.

The Cow Decided.

A peasant living in the village of Predeal, near the Hungarian frontier, lost his cow. About two months ago he happened to be standing at the railroad station watching a train load of cattle about to be sent across the frontier. Suddenly he gave a shout. "That's my cow!" he cried, running toward one of the cars.

The trainmen only laughed at him, and he went before the magistrate. This good man listened to the peasant's story patiently. Then he pronounced this judgment: "The cow shall be taken to the public square of Predeal and milked. Then if it goes of its own accord to the plaintiff's stable it shall belong to him."

The order of the court was carried out, and the cow, in spite of its ten days' absence, took without hesitation the lane which led it a few minutes later into the peasant's stable.—Chicago News.

Your kidney trouble may be of long standing, it may be either acute or chronic, but whatever it is Foley's Kidney Remedy will aid you to get rid of it quickly and restore your natural health and vigor. "One bottle of Foley's Kidney Remedy made me well," said J. Sibbull, of Grand View, Wis. Commence taking it now." Sold by all druggists.

The Maid—"Mr DeBorem is at the door, ma'am. Shall Itell him you are engaged?" Miss Wisegirl—"No. Show him into the parlor, Jane." The Maid—"Yes'm." Miss Wisegirl—"And, Jane—after he lays his box of candy on the piano, tell him I am out."—Chicago News.

No man is more cheated than the self-made man.—Beecher.

The Sting of a Bee.

An eastern fable tells of a potentate who demanded that there should be brought to him the stings of a thousand bees killed because one of their colony had dared commit lese majesty by stinging the hand of royalty. When they were brought in a tiny golden thimble the king was so amazed to find that a thousand of the hypodermic points made such a little mass that he issued a manifesto to the effect that thereafter no person within the bounds of the kingdom should complain at the sting of a bee. The lesson of the fable is that petty annoyances hurt because they are exaggerated in the mind; that when they are seen in their actual proportions they are so slight as to merit only contempt. How much comfort would come to the majority of persons if they could but see the tiny size of the bee stings that lead them to acts of petulance, words of anger, expressions of reproach. The bee sting annoyances have caused lifelong breaches of friendship. They have broken up families and caused anger and resentment to take the place of love and fealty.—Baltimore American.

The Mississippi of Streets.

A street is like a river, with its human current carrying all manner of drift between its banks of residences or shops on either side. And if this simile be appropriate then New York's Broadway is the Mississippi of streets. Probably no other avenue in the world presents so many contrasts in the flotsam and jetsam it carries from Harlem to the Battery. Every type of humanity—uprooted saplings from farms and orchards, proud hulled craft in silks and satins—may be described in the surging mass. Banker and bootblack, the swaggering swell and the draggled derelict, walk shoulder to shoulder—rush, rather, for Broadway is a maelstrom, the embodiment of New York's bustle and hurry, the place where nothing can stand still. Richard Harding Davis once said that everybody "seems to be trying to reach the bank to have a check cashed before 3 o'clock." — George Seibel in Pittsburg Gazette-Times.

Queer Collateral.

"Here is a fact as strange as it is true," said an Egyptologist. "Mummies in ancient Egypt were used chiefly as collateral.

"When an Egyptian wanted to borrow he gave his father's or grandfather's mummy as security. Sometimes, if he required a large sum, he gave his father and both grandfathers, and he would even throw in the mummy of his mother-in-law if she fortunately happened to be in a mummified state.

"Joking aside," the Egyptologist continued, "what I tell you is the truth. An Egyptian was not permitted to borrow without pledging the mummy of some near relative. It was deemed in Egypt both impious and infamous not to redeem so sacred a pledge as that, and he who died with a family mummy still in pawn was himself buried in unconsecrated ground."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

The actor may not be a gambler and yet he always plays for money.

A private secretary has got to mind his own business as well as that of his boss.

A woman's aim is generally mighty poor, even when she throws herself at a man.

Only a foolish woman angles for compliments. The wise one depends more on curves.

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indelicate. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial.

JURORS MUST SERVE.

Judge Cooke Ignores Excuses of Wake Citizens Who Do Not Want to Leave Business.

Raleigh, Sept. 28.—Thirty odd cases, mostly for larceny, retailing and other minor offences, were cleared from the Superior Court docket today by Judge Cooke, none of them being of special note, however. A feature of special interest was the appearance before the judge of a number of prominent citizens including N. B. Broughton, J. G. Ball and others, appealing to Judge Cooke to excuse them from jury service for a variety of reasons. Mr. Broughton, especially, stated that he is one of the state printers and that the work is greatly behind and would be seriously handicapped still further if he were required to stay on the jury. Judge Cooke heard all their excuses and then stated that his court was of some considerable importance as well as the state printing and other enterprises represented; that complaint had come to him that in Wake county the best men were too frequently let off from jury service and that criticisms were made by citizens generally about failure to get justice in the court and to have men of desirable type in the jury box. "Get into that jury box, everyone of you," said the judge. "I can't excuse any of you."

Aldermen Meet This Afternoon.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Aldermen will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for the purpose of considering several items of business that was continued from the last meeting on account of lack of time. Another thing that will likely come up is the proposition to enlarge the present calaboose, which is in pretty bad condition and besides is equipped to hold only three prisoners.

"The Beauty Spot."

"The Beauty Spot," the attraction last night at The Grand, was greatly enjoyed. The audience was kept in almost a continuous laugh. The attendance, while pretty fair, was not what the business management of the company expected.
